JOINT STATUS CERTIFICATE

Pursuant to the Court's order of April 22, 1987, the plaintiff United States and defendant State of Washington file this joint status certificate. Plaintiffs-in-Intervention and the Spokane Tribe of Indians, will file a separate certificate.

1. Anticipated Motions.

No motions are anticipated by the United States or the State of Washington.

2. Remaining discovery including the status of United States' archives search as to reacquired lands.

The United States has completed the archives search concerning reacquired lands and will shortly provide copies of documents unearthed in that search to the State of Washington for its review. No further discovery is contemplated.

3. Further proceedings including setting dates for trial.

The United States and the State of Washington do not foresee the need for a trial.

4. Anticipated trial time required.

The United States and the State of Washington do not anticipate that a trial will be necessary.

5. Prospects for settlement.

It appears that chances are excellent that the parties will be able to settle the issue of the status of the water rights for reacquired lands.

6. Any other matters.

The State, the United States, and plaintiff-in-intervention have agreed that the issues raised in the Tribe's petition will be addressed separately from the proceedings relating to the remand from the Court of Appeals.

Respectfully submitted,

Steven E. Carroll, Attorney
