CLARKSTON, WA - The search for the remains of a 40-year-old missing Clarkston woman is resuming today, according to the Asotin County Sheriff's Office. 40-year-old Rachael Anderson disappeared on April 16, 2010, and according to court documents, it is believed that her estranged husband, 52-year-old Charles Capone and 50-year-old David Stone killed Anderson in the 2200 block of South Main Street and then disposed of her body. Officials believe Anderson's remains are in the Snake River west of the Red Wolf Crossing Bridge. "The search is being conducted by the Asotin County Sheriff's Office with the assistance of the Asotin County Fire District, the Nez Perce County Sheriff's Office and the United States Coast Guard. Boaters are being asked to stay clear of search boats working in the area near Red Wolf Bridge. No further information is available for release at this time," according to Captain Dan Hally. Last month, Stone changed his plea to guilty to failure to contact coroner/law enforcement of dead body. Capone is also charged in the case. His trial is set for March 31st.

Thank you all for your continued thoughts and prayers. I wanted to share something with everyone after a rough day and a disagreement with a co-worker. When I mentioned that Asotin County Sheriff's Dept. and the Coast Guard were continuing the search today, the co-worker stated repeatedly, in an extremely negative tone, that "they would never find her". After calming myself down I told her in no uncertain terms why I was so sure that they would find Rachael and bring her home to us. I believe it is only fair that I share with all of you why I feel so strongly about this. After all, if I can stand up to one negative co-worker, I should most definitely share with those who are positive, thoughtful, and prayerful of this situation over the last several years.

A few months after Rachael disappeared, I was really struggling with the thought that the persons responsible would never face justice. My faith is a very important part of my life and who I am, and this really shook the foundation I was standing on. After spending some time in prayer one day I was just sitting quietly when I heard God speak in my ear. He told me that there would be justice here on earth and that He would bring Rachael home to us. Although my heart wanted to believe that she was still alive, my head knew different. So I have stood on that promise from God ever since. Through some days that there seemed no hope of justice.....ever.

Now, we await the trial against the man responsible, with evidence and information that is sure to prevail in favor of justice. So as this first part of the promise comes closer with each passing day, I am hanging on to the second part with everything I have. I ask you all to grab onto that promise with me, hold on tight, and thank God every time you think about it for all of the promises he has fulfilled in all of our lives as well as thanks for the promises to come. It is not our place to understand the when's and why's of God's plans, but it is our place to have faith in those plans. Continue to pray for the search teams, that God would lead them in the right direction. And again, thank you for all the thoughts and prayers for Rachael's family.

Search for missing Clarkston woman resumes on Snake River

Posted: Monday, January 6, 2014 9:41 am

The search for the remains of a missing Clarkston woman resumed today on the Snake River near Clarkston and will continue through Wednesday if necessary, according to an Asotin County Sheriff's Office news release.

The search for Rachael Anderson is being conducted by the Asotin County Sheriff's Office with the assistance of the Asotin County Fire District, the Nez Perce County Sheriff's Office and the United States Coast Guard.

Boaters are being asked to stay clear of search boats working in the area near Red Wolf Bridge, according to the release.

Anderson has been missing since April 16, 2010. Her estranged husband, Charles A. Capone, 52, and David C. Stone, 50, were charged with murder and conspiracy for their alleged roles in Anderson's death. Anderson and Capone were in the process of getting divorced when she went missing.

In December, Stone pleaded guilty to failure to notify a coroner or law enforcement officer about a death after admitting that he helped dispose of Anderson's body. The plea was part of an agreement that calls for him to testify at Capone's trial. If the judge accepts Stone's plea agreement, he will be sentenced to seven years in prison and have charges against him of murder and conspiracy to commit murder dropped.

Man involved in disappearance of Clarkston woman released from jail

MOSCOW — David C. Stone was released from the Latah County Jail today after he posted bond at about 2:30 p.m. The 50-year-old Moscow man's bond was reduced at the end of last week following a change of plea agreement for his alleged role in the death of Clarkston resident Rachael Anderson in 2010.

Stone pleaded guilty to failure to notify a coroner or law enforcement officer of a death after admitting last week that he helped dispose of Anderson's body.

Anderson's estranged husband, Charles A. Capone, 52, is charged with murder and conspiracy for his alleged role in her death and is still being held at the Latah County Jail.

As of this morning, Monday December 16th, David Stone has not made bail. It doesn't sound like he will try to either. With the hearing so close and the fact that all of his family lives in another state, he may have decided to wait it out. If that changes I will let you know.

After cutting deal, Stone gets bond reduced
Tribune/Kyle Mills

A judge reduced David C. Stone's bond tenfold Friday, two days after he pleaded guilty to reduced charges in connection with a Clarkston woman's death.

Second District Judge Jeff M. Brudie lowered the 50-year-old Moscovice man's bond from $250,000 to $25,000 after Stone admitted Wednesday that he helped dispose of Rachael Anderson's body, but didn't kill her.

As of 10 p.m. Friday, Stone remained incarcerated at the Latah County Jail.

Stone pleaded guilty to charges of failing to notify law enforcement of a death as part of an agreement where he will testify in the trial of Anderson's estranged husband, Charles A. Capone, according to Latah County Prosecutor William Thompson Jr. Capone's trial on first-degree murder, conspiracy to commit murder and failure to notify law enforcement of a death is set to begin March 31.

Stone produced new details of the alleged incident during lengthy interviews with law enforcement in November, Thompson said. Those details prompted renewed efforts to locate Anderson's body in the Snake River near Red Wolf Crossing Bridge in Clarkston. No body has been found.

If the judge accepts Stone's plea agreement, he will be sentenced to seven years in prison and have charges against him of murder and conspiracy to commit murder dropped.

Thompson said the prosecution was satisfied Stone was not involved in planning or carrying out Anderson's alleged murder on April 16, 2010. Thompson said Stone only arrived on scene as the alleged incident was taking place and helped dispose of the body.

If Brudie rejects the plea bargain, Stone will face all the original charges, but have an opportunity to withdraw his guilty plea. Thompson accepted Brudie's bond reduction ruling Friday.

"We think the conditions are appropriate," he said. "We are in the process of notifying the family and all the folks subject to the no-contact order, so they're aware that he might be able to post bond." Stone's attorney, Brandie J. Rouse, could not be reached Friday for comment on the reduction.

According to Thompson, the conditions of the bond require Stone to stay in the immediate area to ensure he testifies in the Capone trial and appears at his own sentencing hearing. That hearing is set to take place after Capone's trial.

"He does have to check in personally every day at the jail," he said. "The sheriff has said he wants him to check in by 8 a.m. every morning if he posts bond."

So the wheels of justice may turn slow, but turn they must. It may seem like a difficult pill to swallow, but the end result is a stronger case against Charles Capone, who is truly responsible for this tragic and senseless loss.

David C. Stone's murder trial set for Feb. 3

Posted: Friday, October 11, 2013 12:00 am

By ELIZABETH RUDD of the Tribune | 0 comments

MOSCOW - The trial for a Moscow man charged with murder and conspiracy in the disappearance of a Clarkston woman more than three years ago won't take place until next year.

Latah County Senior Deputy Prosecutor Michelle Evans said the jury trial for David C. Stone was set for Feb. 3 during a conference call Thursday morning.

Stone, 50, along with Charles A. Capone, 52, are facing several charges in Latah County for their alleged roles in the death of Rachael Anderson, who was last seen April 16, 2010 in Moscow. Capone and Anderson, a mother of four, were in the process of getting divorced when she vanished.

Stone's attorney Charles Kovic said the trial date is within the speedy trial time limit - six months after the case was bound over to 2nd District Court.

"I'm comfortable with it," Kovic said.

Judge Jeff M. Brudie has not issued a scheduling order yet, so an exact start time has not been set, Kovic said.

The men are charged with first-degree murder, conspiracy to commit first-degree murder, failure to notify a coroner or law enforcement officer about a death and conspiracy to commit failure to notify a coroner or law enforcement officer about a death. Both men have pleaded innocent to the charges.

The trial for Capone was set to begin Dec. 9, but was postponed

(2) Help me find my missing mom! Rachael Anderson!

Wednesday following a ruling by 2nd District Judge Michael J. Griffin.

Capone's attorney, Mark Monson, and Evans said a hearing is scheduled for Nov. 8 and a new trial date will be set then.

"One of the reasons it got postponed was due to just the massive amount of evidence," Monson said.

Capone also is being represented by attorney D. Ray Barker of Moscow.

Monson said that in written documents alone there are almost 4,000 pages of evidence and they are continuing to receive information. Some of the evidence is also with the FBI, Monson said, which has been slowed down as a result of the government shutdown.

"We've got evidence spread out literally clear across the country," he said.

Capone also waived his right to a speedy trial. Monson said it is not uncommon for the defendant to do that in cases like Capone's and it will allow for more time to prepare.

"I thought it was a little quickly set in the first place," Monson said.

If the initial date held, Capone's trial would have begun in eight weeks. But Monson said in his experience, it can take about a year before both sides are prepared for a jury trial in similar cases.

"The best reason it got moved was just to give everyone an opportunity to be prepared," Monson said.

MOSCOW, ID - The December 9th murder trial for the estranged husband of a 40-year-old Clarkston woman who has been missing since 2010 has been vacated. A new trial date for 52-year-old Charles Capone has not been set in Latah County Second District Court, but a pretrial motion hearing was scheduled for November 8th. Rachael Anderson disappeared on April 16, 2010, and according to court documents, it is believed that Capone and 49-year-old David Stone killed Anderson in the 2200 block of South Main Street and then disposed of her body. The Moscow men are charged with several counts, including being a principal to murder in the 1st-degree, conspiracy to commit 1st-degree murder, failure to notify a coroner or law enforcement officer of a death, and conspiracy to commit failure to notify a coroner or law enforcement officer of a death. They have both pleaded not guilty to the charges. A trial date for Stone has not been set.

Preparation continues for pair of murder trials

By ELIZABETH RUDD of the Tribune |

MOSCOW - The recent denial of a request to combine the trials of two Moscow men charged with murder and conspiracy in connection with the disappearance of a Clarkston woman in 2010 has not affected the prosecution's preparation for the case.

Latah County Prosecuting Attorney William Thompson Jr. said that his office is continuing to prepare for the trials of Charles A. Capone, 52, and David C. Stone, 50, after 2nd District Judge Jeff M. Brudie denied a request Thursday to combine the trials.

Capone and Stone are facing several charges in Latah County for their alleged roles in the death of Rachael Anderson, a mother of four who was last seen April 16, 2010. She and Capone were in the process of getting divorced when she vanished.

The men are charged with first-degree murder, conspiracy to commit first-degree murder, failure to notify a coroner or law enforcement officer about a death and conspiracy to commit failure to notify a coroner or law enforcement officer about a death. Both men have pleaded innocent to the charges.

Thompson said his office is in the process of preparing for Capone's trial, which is scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. Dec. 9, and have requested a scheduling order from 2nd District Judge Michael J. Griffin to establish deadlines for pretrial hearings. Griffin will oversee Capone's trial, but was disqualified from Stone's case earlier this year.

As of Friday, Thompson said he was still waiting to hear about a trial date for Stone. Brudie will oversee Stone's trial, but opted to wait to set a date pending his decision on the request to join the trials.

Thompson said he is unsure of when Stone's trial date will be set, but it could be pushed into next year because of when Capone's trial is scheduled. Each trial is expected to last about four weeks.

MOTION FOR ONE TRIAL DENIED! The judge denied the motion today, 9/19/13, to join the two cases into one. There will be more information available tomorrow, so this is what we know so far. Currently, Charles Capone's hearing is scheduled for December 9, 2013 with Judge Griffin, and David Stone's hearing date will be announced soon with Judge Brudie.

Although, I must agree, this seems a hard pill to swallow, I continue to believe that God has a plan. I believe He always answers our prayers, sometimes we need to accept the answer even if it is different than what we thought it should be.

Judge rules Capone and Stone will be tried separately in Rachael Anderson murder case

By ELIZABETH RUDD of the Tribune

Two Moscow men charged with murder and conspiracy in connection with the 2010 disappearance of a Clarkston woman will be tried separately.

Charles A. Capone, 52, and David C. Stone, 50, are both facing several charges in Latah County for their alleged roles in the death of Rachael Anderson, a mother of four who vanished April 16, 2010. Capone and Anderson were in the process of getting divorced when she went missing.

Mark Monson, an attorney for Capone, said he received notice just before 3 p.m. Thursday of 2nd District Judge Jeff M. Brudie's ruling denying a request to combine trials for the two men.

Brudie issued a written ruling on the request made by Latah County Prosecuting Attorney William Thompson Jr. following a hearing last week.

Monson said the ruling stated that the court found the risk of unfair prejudice to one or both of the defendants to be greater than judicial economy, essentially the cost benefits of combining the trials.

"We're pleased," Monson said, adding that this will allow the focus of Capone's trial to be solely on him and not Stone.

At the hearing last week, Thompson said he anticipated each trial to last about four weeks, with identical evidence and witnesses. He said it was in the best interest of judicial economy to try the two men together.

The men are charged with first-degree murder, conspiracy to commit first-degree murder, failure to notify a coroner or law enforcement officer about a death and conspiracy to commit failure to notify a coroner or law enforcement officer about a death. Both men have pleaded innocent to the charges.

Monson, who represents Capone along with D. Ray Barker, said the attorneys are happy with the ruling because there was a concern that blame or bias from a jury could be portrayed unfairly against one or the other of the two men.

Thompson and Stone's attorney, Charles Kovic of Moscow, could not be reached for comment Thursday night.

Capone is set for trial at 9 a.m. Dec. 9 in front of 2nd District Judge Michael J. Griffin. Brudie will oversee Stone's trial, but initially opted against setting a date pending his decision on whether to combine the two trials.

Slaying suspect pleads innocent

David C. Stone enters plea; he and Charles A. Capone are accused of killing Rachael Anderson in 2010

MOSCOW - A second Moscow man charged with murder and conspiracy for his alleged role in the disappearance of Rachael Anderson in 2010 pleaded innocent Thursday.

David C. Stone, 50, along with Charles A. Capone, 52, face several charges in Latah County for their alleged roles in the Clarkston woman's disappearance more than three years ago.

Anderson, a mother of four, was last seen in Moscow on April 16, 2010. She and Capone were in the process of getting divorced when she vanished.

Stone, represented by public defender Charles Kovic, pleaded innocent to the charges before 2nd District Judge Jeff M. Brudie. Capone pleaded innocent to the charges last month before District Judge Michael J. Griffin.

The men are charged with first-degree murder, conspiracy to commit first-degree murder, failure to notify a coroner or law enforcement officer about a death and conspiracy to commit failure to notify a coroner or law enforcement officer about a death.

Brudie also heard a motion from Latah County Prosecuting Attorney William Thompson Jr. to combine the two trials. Thompson said it is in the best interest of judicial economy to have one trial since he anticipates each one to last four weeks and involve the same witnesses and evidence.

"What it really boils down to is the charges are identical, the evidence is identical, and there's really no reason these two cases shouldn't be tried together," Thompson said.

While neither Kovic nor Capone's attorney, D. Ray Barker, submitted written responses to the motion, both said Thursday they are opposed to the idea.

"I think my client's constitutional rights trump that (of judicial economy)," Kovic said.

Kovic said he thinks joining the trials is a violation of due process, implies guilt by association and would be confusing to a jury.

Barker agreed with Kovic, saying his reasons for objecting are the same.

Brudie did not rule on the motion Thursday, but said he would take it under advisement pending his written ruling at a later date.

As a result, a trial date for Stone has not been set. Capone's trial is tentatively set for 9 a.m. Dec. 9.

If Brudie approves the motion to join the trials, he will be the judge to oversee the combined trial as Griffin has already been disqualified from Stone's case. A new trial date would be set for both men at that time.

Capone pleads innocent to murder
Tuesday, August 20, 2013 2:41 pm | Updated: 2:45 pm, Tue Aug 20, 2013.

A Moscow man charged with murder and conspiracy in the disappearance of a Clarkston woman three years ago pleaded innocent today in Latah County.

Charles A. Capone, 52, along with David C. Stone, 50, are facing several charges in 2nd District Court for their alleged roles in the death of Rachael Anderson, a mother of four who vanished April 16, 2010.

Capone pleaded innocent to Judge Michael J. Griffin in his arraignment and is scheduled for trial at 9 a.m. Dec. 9. Stone has yet to enter a plea to the charges.

The men are charged with first-degree murder, conspiracy to commit first-degree murder, failure to notify a coroner or law enforcement officer about a death and conspiracy to commit failure to notify a coroner or law enforcement officer about a death.

ARRAIGNMENT OUTCOME! Well Charles Capone was arraigned on all charges today and a hearing was set for December 9th. David Stone's attorney filed to recuse Judge Griffin yesterday, so when a new judge is assigned him, his arraignment will be set. It is there goal to have separate trials. The prosecutor is filing to have them tried together as this trial will be lengthy (3 to 4 weeks) and because it is so interconnected, it is important to have this happen. Also, a flurry of pre-trial motions will fly back and forth during this time. I will keep you posted as I know the details.

Pray that the Prosecutor's are successful in their endeavors. We need every benefit to win this case.

Arraignment Postponed!
The prosecution presented a motion to recuse Judge Stegner from the arraignment. This is a good thing, as we want the best possible judge to serve over the trial. If I understand it correctly, whoever serves over the arraignment becomes the trial judge. So we should be assigned a new district judge in the next two days. Pray that God provides the best judge for our case.

VICTORY! Phase one is now complete and the judge ruled in our favor. Charles Capone and David Stone were bound over and will face the following charges in trial.

- first-degree murder
- conspiracy to commit first-degree murder
- failure to notify a coroner or law enforcement officer about a death
- conspiracy to commit failure to notify a coroner or law enforcement officer about a death

Justice is a slow process, but if I learned anything in the last three years, it is that in order for the system to work, it takes time to put everything in place. In our "immediate gratification" society, it is easy to forget that not everything can be ordered at a drive thru intercom and picked up at a window a few minutes later. Sometimes we have to be a part of the cultivation process and grow the food, then prepare it, before we can sit down and enjoy it.

Keep the faith, keep praying for the system and all of those persons involved. It will be a tedious time preparing for trial. But it will happen.

CALL TO PRAYER!

Hello All, The Preliminary Hearing begins tomorrow, July 30th. Please begin praying for the prosecution team, the witnesses, and most especially the family. This step is crucial in moving forward with the actual trial. Pray for wisdom, knowledge, courage, and peace. Pray that the enemy has no power over the family or the prosecution.

This hearing could take up to four days. Although we may not be able to post many details other than news reports until it is over, please know that your prayers will be felt through out the process. Thank you in advance for your commitment to pray over the duration of the trial and may God bless you for your faithfulness.

On behalf of Rachael's children, let me say thank you for your thoughts and prayers over the last three years. The journey is not yet over. Please re-post this request on your own page asking all of your friends and family to pray as well.

What a long day. Had my interview with the Latah County Prosecutor in preparation for the preliminary hearing against Charles Capone and David Stone. Challenging....but very doable. Then was verbally accosted by two young men driving around clarkston in a teal colored two door hatch back. Two very angry and scary men making some very rude gestures and very ominous threatening remarks. Very coincidental. I did report it and the police are aware of the situation and are on the lookout for these people. So, now, I ask for lots of prayers over the next few weeks for the family and friends of Rachael Anderson as we prepare for the preliminary hearing. Pray for strength, peace, wisdom, and anything else I might have forgotten. God is in charge.

Charges filed against Charles Capone in Latah County

Second-degree assault charges against Charles A. Capone, the estranged husband of a missing Clarkston woman, were dropped this morning in Asotin County Superior Court. When the judge signed the order of dismissal he indicated charges had been filed against Capone in Latah County.

Capone's attorney, Mark Monson, said he was not surprised by the turn of events. "I was certainly expecting something to happen and it did."

It is not yet known what specific charges have been filed against Capone in Latah County.

Latah County Prosecutor William Thompson Jr. said he could only confirm that information on charges regarding the disappearance of Rachael Anderson will be forthcoming today or Thursday.

Anderson has been missing for three years. Capone was recently named as a suspect in her disappearance.

For more on this developing story, go to Intribune.com or read Thursday's Tribune.

Capone now considered a suspect

On eve of third anniversary of Rachael Anderson's disappearance, Asotin County sheriff's office alters the characterization of her estranged husband

By KERRI SANDAINE of the Tribune | 2 comments

The estranged husband of a missing Clarkston woman was named as a suspect in her disappearance on Monday.

Capt. Dan Hally of the Asotin County Sheriff's Office said Charles A. Capone is now considered a suspect, rather than a person of interest, in Rachael Anderson's disappearance. The mother of four vanished three years ago today.

Capone, a Moscow mechanic, is being held in the Asotin County Jail on an unrelated domestic violence allegation. The assault charge is headed for dismissal to make way for an anticipated federal case. Under terms of an agreement reached last month, if no federal charges are filed by May 1, Capone will be released from jail.

Hally said a task force made up of representatives from Asotin County, Clarkston, Moscow, Latah County, Lewiston, the FBI, and Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives has been actively investigating Anderson's disappearance.

"We continue to follow all leads and are working through a significant amount of evidence and information," Hally said. "At no time during our investigation have I felt more confident about our ability to hold anyone involved in her disappearance accountable."

Hally said his office remains in close contact with Anderson's family and is working in conjunction with the U.S. Attorney's Office in the Eastern Washington District on the case.

No arrests have been made in connection with Anderson's disappearance.

"It hasn't gotten any easier," said Amber Griswold, 27, the oldest of Anderson's children. "We still don't have any closure."

Anderson was last seen in Moscow on April 16, 2010, and her family continues to seek information that may lead to her whereabouts. They spent Monday posting more fliers in the region.

"It's horrible to hang pictures of your missing mom next to posters of missing cats," said 26-year-old Ashley Colbert. "But this year people were really nice and sympathetic. We're still hopeful and looking for answers. If anybody knows anything, please speak up."

Anderson was 40 and had filed for a divorce from Capone when she vanished.

Since Anderson disappeared, she has two new grandsons, and her children have tried to adapt to daily life without her presence.

"You have to grow up," Colbert said. "You can't run to your mom for answers."

"It's just awful," said Anderson's sister, Crystal Anderson-Kurzenberger of South Dakota. "The hardest part is not knowing where she is or what happened."

Charges against Capone will be dismissed.

Domestic violence charge scheduled to go away by May 1 to make way for likely federal charges.

Posted: Tuesday, March 19, 2013 12:00 am

By KERRI SANDAINE of the Tribune

ASOTIN - A domestic violence charge against a missing Clarkston woman's estranged husband is slated for dismissal on or before May 1 to make way for an anticipated federal case.

Charles A. Capone's impending trial has been called off in Asotin County, but he will remain in jail pending the outcome of a federal grand jury's decision next month.

Defense attorney Mark T. Monson of Moscow and Asotin County Prosecutor Ben C. Nichols agreed to a contract Monday calling for a delay of the trial, slated to begin Friday in Dayton, Wash., and dismissal of a second-degree domestic violence assault charge against Capone. Asotin County Superior Court Judge William D. Acey signed off on the agreement Monday. Capone, who has pleaded innocent to the assault charge, appeared in court via video link from the jail and indicated he agrees with the contract.

Because of Capone's criminal history, the potential sentence on a conviction on the second-degree assault charge in Asotin County is six to 12 months, Nichols told the Tribune. Capone has been in custody in Asotin County since October and will remain there until the federal authorities step in or May 1.

Capone, 51, was accused of attempting to strangle Rachael Anderson on Dec. 27, 2009, just days before she filed for a divorce, according to court records. She has been missing since April 16, 2010. Authorities have named Capone as a person of interest in Anderson's disappearance.

"Everyone realizes this case is really about the disappearance of Anderson," Nichols told the Tribune. "Because of the limitations in the state law, I don't believe we can do Rachael Anderson justice in the state court. I have been assured the federal authorities will indict Mr. Capone, and he will face more significant punishment for his role in her disappearance in the federal court."

Nichols said the agreement was worked out over the weekend and the motions were filed Monday morning.

According to the contract, the prosecutor agrees to dismiss the charge immediately upon an indictment by a federal grand jury or confirmation by the U.S. Attorney's Office that the government is not seeking an indictment against the defendant.

The charge will be dismissed no later than May 1. If no charges are filed, Capone will be released from jail.

"Given we have assurances that the state will dismiss the charge one way or another, we couldn't argue with that," Monson said in court via telephone. "We are satisfied with the agreement, and in the interest of justice, there is no reason to conduct a trial."

The next hearing in this matter will be at 9 a.m. on May 1 in Asotin County Superior Court before Judge Ray D. Lutes.

Court appoints new attorney for assault suspect Capone

Posted: Wednesday, February 27, 2013 12:00 am

By KERRI SANDAINE of the Tribune | 0 comments

ASOTIN - Charles A. Capone's trial date in Dayton is still on track, but he'll be represented by a new attorney.

Capone, a 51-year-old Moscow mechanic, is facing a second-degree assault charge for allegedly attempting to strangle his estranged wife, Rachael Anderson, three years ago. Anderson has been missing since April 16, 2010.

Capone, who has pleaded innocent to the charge, is being held at the Asotin County Jail on a $1 million bond.

Moscow attorney Mark T. Monson was appointed to defend Capone Tuesday in Asotin County Superior Court after public defender Jane E. Richards filed a motion to withdraw, saying she had an unspecified conflict of interest.

In her motion, Richards said newly discovered information has come to her attention and she can no longer defend Capone because of the conflict.

Asotin County Superior Court Judge William D. Acey asked Monson about his legal background Tuesday prior to appointing him to the case. Capone, who was in the courtroom, said he did not have any objection to the change in his representation.

"I wish we could pay you more, but our standard rate is $75 per hour, plus expenses," Acey told Monson.

Asotin County Prosecutor Ben Nichols is handling the case on behalf of the state.

A pretrial hearing will take place at 1:30 p.m. Monday in Asotin County Superior Court. Jury selection begins at 9 a.m. March 22 in Columbia County, and the trial gets under way March 26. The trial is expected to last three days.

Acey recently granted a change of venue for the trial because of the publicity surrounding Anderson's disappearance.

ASOTIN - A Moscow man facing a second-degree assault charge in Asotin County Superior Court has been granted a change of venue.

On Tuesday, public defender Jane Richards successfully argued that Charles A. Capone, 51, couldn't receive a fair trial in Asotin County based on the attention that's been focused on his estranged wife's disappearance. The judge ordered the trial to be moved to Columbia County, and jury selection is set to begin March 22 in Dayton.

Judge William D. Acey said the ongoing investigation into the disappearance of Capone's estranged wife, Rachael Anderson, could inflame a jury. Because Anderson is still missing and Capone is a person of interest in her disappearance, a "huge, terrible, shadow" is hanging over the case, Acey said. "I can't get rid of that here."

The Clarkston woman has been missing since April 16, 2010.

Capone is accused of trying to strangle Anderson during an alleged domestic violence incident three years ago in Clarkston, according to court records. He has pleaded innocent to the charge. Prosecutors plan to call 15 witnesses at his trial, which is expected to run March 26-29.

Asotin County Prosecutor Ben Nichols is prosecuting the case, and Acey will preside over the jury trial.

Acey cautioned Nichols to steer clear of the missing person case during the assault trial. Nichols said if it's not relevant, he won't address the subject.

During the arguments about change of venue, Nichols pointed to several high-profile cases that have been conducted in Asotin County, saying it was possible to get fair and impartial juries locally. He also discussed a recent murder case in Lewiston that wasn't moved although it garnered a large amount of media coverage and "sent shock waves through the (Lewiston-Clarkston Valley)."

Richards said inflammatory comments on Facebook, extensive media coverage and published quotes from investigating officers have the potential to influence a jury.

Nichols said with the advances in technology, people all around the world can access social media, television and newspaper websites.

"You can access the Tribune in Zanzibar and watch KLEW-TV (online) in Mozambique," the prosecutor said.

Residents of Asotin County have been hearing about Anderson's disappearance for almost three years, along with Capone's prior bad acts, arrest and court proceedings, Richards said.

Capone, who is being held at the Asotin County Jail on a $1 million bond, was present at the hearing. Also in the courtroom were Anderson's daughters, grandchildren and family friends. Capone's next court appearance is scheduled for Feb. 26 in Asotin County Superior Court.

Capone's request for new judge in assault case denied
His estranged wife, Rachael Anderson, has been missing since April 16, 2010

Posted: Tuesday, November 6, 2012 12:00 am
By KERRI SANDAINE of the Tribune | 2 comments

ASOTIN - Charles A. Capone's request for a new judge was denied late Monday afternoon in Asotin County Superior Court, but he may be represented by a different attorney.

Capone, 51, is charged with second-degree assault for allegedly attempting to strangle his estranged wife, Rachael Anderson, in 2009. Anderson has been missing since April 16, 2010.

In a handwritten document, Capone claimed Asotin County Superior Court Judge William D. Acey is prejudiced against him because he didn't reduce his $1 million bond and "because (Asotin County Prosecutor Ben) Nichols shouted at the judge, and the judge backed down."

Acey said Capone's affidavit of prejudice didn't meet the muster for a new judge. Exercising his discretion to keep a bond high does not constitute prejudice against the defendant, the judge said. In addition, Acey said if a lawyer raises his voice and the judge chooses not to respond in kind, it doesn't mean he's prejudiced in the case.

Court documents say Capone is now represented by public defender Jane Richards and attorney Mark Monson of Moscow. Acey asked Richards Monday why taxpayers should pay her $75 per hour to work on Capone's case if Monson, an experienced criminal defense lawyer, is willing to defend the Moscow man.

Richards said Capone is entitled to co-counsel, and Monson is doing the work pro bono. She also said the reason she's paid an hourly fee to work on Capone's case is because the cap for adult felony cases has been exceeded on Asotin County's public defender contract.

Acey told Richards that if Monson represents Capone, she will be relieved of her duties in this case.

Because Monson was not present at Monday's hearing, Richards filed a motion asking for the complaint against Capone to be more defined and spelled out so a proper defense can be prepared.

Capone previously pleaded innocent to the charge. A trial date was set for Dec. 27-28 in Asotin County Superior Court with a pretrial conference at 9 a.m. Dec. 17.

During Monday's proceeding, Capone appeared via video link from the Asotin County Jail. Friends of Anderson were in the courtroom, and her two daughters and several grandchildren waited most of the day at the courthouse for Capone to appear. Anderson's family had to leave shortly before his case was called.

Assault suspect held on $1 million bond.
Estranged husband of missing Clarkston woman set to be arraigned Monday.
By KERRI SANDAINE of the Tribune

ASOTIN - The estranged husband of a missing Clarkston woman is being held in the Asotin County Jail on a $1 million bond.

Charles A. Capone, 51, is facing a second-degree assault domestic violence charge for allegedly attempting to strangle Rachael Anderson at her home in 2009. The couple were in the process of divorcing when she disappeared more than two years ago.

Capone appeared in an Asotin County courtroom Thursday via a video link from the jail for a bond hearing. Judge Ray D. Lutes raised the Moscow man's bond from $250,000 to $1 million, after hearing statements from Asotin County Prosecutor Ben Nichols about Capone's flight risk and criminal history.

Nichols said Capone is aware federal authorities are reportedly working on pending charges that could result in life in prison, so the motivation to flee is high. The prosecutor said court documents indicate Capone has made statements in the past about leaving the country, he's interfered with justice, and manipulated witnesses.

"I believe Mr. Capone represents a serious risk to the safety of the community," Nichols said after the hearing. "I'm glad we could demonstrate that to the judge, and I look forward to proceeding with the case."

Capone's arraignment was scheduled for 9 a.m. Monday in Asotin County Superior Court. Public defender Gary Carpenter was appointed to represent him. Capone asked for attorney Neil Cox, who is not on the indigent defender list.

From the jail, Capone shook his head several times while Nichols was speaking telephonically to the judge. Later, he told the judge a lot of the information can't be substantiated.

Capone was brought to Clarkston from the Sea-Tac Federal Detention Center in Seattle, where he was being held on a federal firearms conviction arising from his arrest in May 2010.

Anderson, a Clarkston mother of four, is still missing, and Capone is a person of interest in her disappearance, police have said. To date, Capone has not been named as a suspect and no charges have been filed in connection with that case.

Christy Thornberry I still can not belive it has been 2 years. Still seems like yesterday i was showing her my newborn baby girl and she was asking to babysit for me :*(that has been 5 yrs ago and i still pray for answers. Someone somewhere knows the truth. The most we can do is keep her close to our hearts and pray that one day justice will be served.

This is a great article about my missing sister, this makes tears come to my eyes. I have to say that she is the best mother, sister, grandmother a person could ask for and this really makes me angry that this evil has happened to her. She is a great mother and grandmother, who ever did this to her needs to come forward. Her children and family are suffering, so I pray with all my heart that we have answers today. We just want her home....I love you with all my heart little sis Rachael and will always be with me.

Still missing, still mourned

By KERRI SANDAINE of the Tribune | Posted: Monday, April 16, 2012 12:00 am

On a rainy April afternoon, Rachael Anderson left her home in Clarkston and never returned. The mother of four was last seen in Moscow two years ago today, and posters of the dark-haired woman with a big smile are still hanging in storefront windows and pinned to bulletin boards across the region....

Information: There are numerous rumors running rampant and please do not spread rumors as they only hurt the family and friends involved in this difficult situation. Here are some facts: Rachael has not been found. Law Enforcement is not able to release details of the investigation. We will not name suspects. The task force continues to utilize every available resource and we are making progress. Our silence protects the investigation and while we understand it is frustrating for everyone involved, we will not compromise the investigation for the sole purpose of releasing information to ease frustration. We continue to work with and support the family. We commend all of you who have shared your thoughts and prayers for the family and we ask that the public continue to report any suspicious activity during the late night hours of April 16th and the early morning hours of April 17th in the areas between Clarkston, Washington and Moscow Idaho and areas surrounding Moscow. If anyone noticed a vehicle or people in an area that is just unusual anytime between April 16th and April 20th please call 509-758-2331 to report it. Thank you again for supporting the family during this difficult time.

I think of you often and have been watching your story for some time. My big sister was missing for 6 weeks, and it was Horrible. I think that not knowing was the worst part! Not that any of it waswell there are no words.. We finally found her. It was not a happy reunion.... I miss her dearly!! There is not a day that goes by that I don't think of her and reference her wisdom. Now I tend her children (and feel blessed to have them), losing her has changed my life. Not only am I grieving for the loss of my sister, but also taking on the role as her children's mom.... I hope to live up to how she was as a mother and so much more!!!! God Bless!!!! Good Luck I will continue to pray for you all!!!!

We are playing a waiting game, all we can do is pray for answers! I know with all my heart the truth will be revealed, it will just take time. Why we wait there are 2 things that we can do.

1. If you know anything come forward with the truth.
2. Spread the word about the dangers of stalking, be aware of it, watch for the signs, and be careful that you are not helping someone in their stalking efforts. Many people don't realize that when they are offering information about a friend, neighbor, coworker (ext) to an ex (any person) asking questions they could be helping a stalker.

Just be aware!!

I know the world is full of evil freaks of nature. and some are copy-cats. Maybe this is a copycat crime because in Feb 26 2010 Moncton New Brunswick Canada. A young grandmother was abducted and kept in a basement for I believe two months.. she escaped without clothes and was able to lead police to the pervert.

I pray daily for Rachael to be brought home. I wish HLN would take more interest in what goes on and in people missing from more areas but they I hear little about missing persons from WA or many other areas there. I learned about her by going to Websleuths and finding her name there. I know there are a lot of unsolved missing persons cases all over the Northwest and Kyron is only the one in many who get no publicity.

I really hope your mother is found. My teenage daughter was missing last year. We created a facebook page, then used fb advertising so it appeared as an ad on the right side of the page for fb members that lived within a 10 mile radius. The page had hundreds of hits from people who lived in that area within 24 hours. The lead that found her, though, came as a result of the fliers we hung.

Christi Guinard it's not really the police's job to keep the public informed on how the investigation is going...just sayin'. There is a task force assigned to the case, and they are working to find out what happened to Rachael and who is responsible. Meanwhile, we are praying for the family and hoping for the best possible outcome.

I think everyone appreciates the post from Dan Hally. I would hate to see this case lost over time. It is a relief to know they are still actively working it. I totally understand not being able to release information to protect the case. Thanks for letting us know that they continue to investigate. I will continue to pray that they find answers. Hang in there Amber and Ashley--God Bless you and your family.

I felt numb the first week, sad the second, then its been mad, confused and now its just why, why, why. I'm certain I will never comprehend what my nieces and nephews must feel, but looking at the big picture, I am amazed at how much the communities and friends of our family are helping and supporting our cause. Now I realize how much we actually are a piece of thread in this awesome fabric and just like the weaves, how close we all truly are. Thank you and God Bless.

MOSCOW, ID - The defense attorney for a 52-year-old Moscow man accused of killing his estranged wife in April of 2010 has filed a motion in Latah County Second District Court asking for the state to pay for a forensic pathologist. But Latah County Prosecuting Attorney Bill Thompson filed an objection to the motion, saying that not only is there no need for such services, the pathologist that Defense Attorney Mark Monson is proposing at a rate of $400 an hour is not reasonable.

Charles Capone is charged with being a principal to 1st-degree murder, conspiracy to commit 1st-degree murder, failure to notify a coroner or law enforcement officer of a death, and conspiracy to commit failure to notify a coroner or law enforcement officer of a death. Officials believe that Capone killed 40-year-old Rachel Anderson on April 16, 2010. His trial is set for March 31st.

A second man charged in the case, 50-year-old David Stone, last month changed his plea to guilty to failure to contact a coroner or law enforcement of a dead body. He is out on $25,000 bond pending sentencing.

The Asotin County Sheriff's Office, with the help of the US Coast Guard and other outside agencies, has recently searched for the Clarkston woman's remains in the Snake River near the Red Wolf Crossing Bridge after receiving information from Stone, but the searches have not been successful.

Monson wrote in his motion that he would like to retain the services of Dr. Todd Grey, an expert in forensic pathology, to review records and discovery materials, and to assist with the forensic aspects of this case at the expense of Latah County.

"In representing Mr. Capone, it has been necessary to retain the services of an expert in the field of forensic pathology. The state has disclosed evidence of death by strangulation. It is necessary to consult with a forensic pathologist regarding the alleged manner of death and the type of evidence expected in such a death," Monson wrote.

Monson says it is necessary for an expert to review all relevant discovery materials and conduct whatever tests may be deemed necessary in order to assist counsel in representing his client, and failure to retain the assistance of such an expert would result in inadequate representation of Capone.

"I have contacted Dr. Todd Grey, MD, regarding obtaining assistance in this case. Dr. Grey is the Chief Medical Examiner for the State of Utah Medical Examiner's Office located in Salt Lake City, Utah. Dr. Grey's rate schedule is $400 per hour," Monson stated.

But Prosecutor Bill Thompson says at this point, there is nothing in this case for a forensic pathologist to examine or offer opinions. "There are no human remains, there has been no forensic pathology examination or opinion rendered on behalf of the State that the defense would need to assess or respond to and, in sum, there is no articulable reason for involving the services of a forensic pathology expert."

Chat (Off)

Thompson stated in his objection that if the defense can identify a reason for forensic pathology examination and/or opinion, "the State is prepared to seek out such services at a more reasonable expense than the $400 per hour proposed by the defense - again, assuming that it can be demonstrated that such services are necessary."

A hearing on the motion is scheduled for February 10th.

ASOTIN, WA - Asotin County Judge Ray Lutes this morning signed a warrant for the estranged husband of a missing Clarkston woman. Charles Capone is charged with 2nd-degree assault - domestic violence. He is accused of strangling 40-year-old Rachael Anderson on December 27, 2009. She was last seen on April 16, 2010. Bond for Capone is set at $250,000 who is scheduled to be released from federal custody on Wednesday. He was arrested in May of 2010 and later sentenced to 33 months in prison followed by three years supervised release after pleading guilty to being a felon in possession of a firearm.

Asotin County Sheriff Ken Bancroft says Capone has been serving his time in a halfway house in King County. A detainer has been placed on him, and he should be returned to Asotin County no later than Friday.

Capone is considered the prime suspect in Anderson's disappearance. She filed for divorce from Capone in January 2010 after just three months of marriage. Capone has a history of domestic violence. In 1997 he allegedly threatened to break into the home of a Moscow doctor. He also threatened to rape her and her daughter, and then kill himself. In 2006, Capone also allegedly stood over his ex-wife in Florida and threatened to kill her.

Bancroft says they have a solid case against Capone and "he won't be touching dry dirt until we are done with him." The task force has worked diligently on finding Anderson, and Bancroft says, "we're not giving up on finding her." (PHOTO pressed charges and he was arrested for the aggravated assault charges when she went missing in April. You don't necessarily have to have a body and clear cut evidence/ or a smoking gun to convict a person of a crime. They can be convicted on probability, which looks like what Asotin County is going after. I have no doubt in my mind the person is guilty as sin, however you all have to wait until all the evidence is in, and make sure the defense doesn't offer any real reasonable doubt. Myself I think it's going to be a difficult conviction on the prosecutors part.

Eastside Marketplace under contract to sell to Real Life on the Palouse

2/24/2013

MOSCOW — Eastside Marketplace, a 150,000-square-foot shopping center on the east end of Moscow off the Troy Highway, is under contract to sell. The 15-acre facility at 1420 S Blaine St., off the Troy Highway, is currently owned by Bennett Holdings, which includes Frank and Delores Bennett and daughters Shelley L. Bennett and Vicki Jahns. The marketplace is under contract to sell to Real Life on the Palouse, a non-denominational, service-oriented church that currently meets at the SEL Event Center in Pullman. The church will create an LLC to own the Marketplace, and the property will stay on the tax rolls.

About Us

Eastside Marketplace is a 150,000-square-foot shopping center on the east end of Moscow off the Troy Highway.

The 15-acre facility at 1420 S Blaine St., previously owned by Bennett Holdings, was recently purchased by Real Life on the Palouse, a non-denominational, service-oriented church which currently meets at the SEL Event Center in Pullman. The organization intends to create a new business entity to manage the Marketplace and renovate the event space into their Moscow campus where they will hold services.

Under the ownership of the Bennett family, Eastside Marketplace received a $2 million makeover in 1997 transforming the inside of the shopping center into a true marketplace complete with lampposts and umbrellas.

In 2006, the owners added a toddler play area to the center of the shopping center.

Along with the daily activity of business at Eastside Marketplace it's also a place for a variety of programs, events and meetings.

Eastside Marketplace's ownership and merchants host many annual family-oriented community programs including Home for the Holidays – where children can come play games and enjoy a free Christmas movie courtesy of Eastside Cinemas; Eggstravaganza – where young children can participate in an indoor egg hunt; and Trick-or-Treat, where children can pick up candy and win prizes.

Courtesy of one of Eastside Marketplace's tenants, First Step Internet, the shopping center is also an internet hotspot.

With the help of both the ownership and merchant mix at Eastside Marketplace, the shopping center is fast becoming a place to do business and spend quality time.

2. I am not a party to the above-captioned action.
3. On January 31, 2014, I spoke with Bonnie Curran, Circulation Manager with The Lewiston Tribune and Moscow-Pullman Daily Newspaper. Bonnie Curran represented to me that 3,123 households in Latah County receive the Lewiston Morning Tribune. Bonnie Curran

1 represented to me that 3,619 households in Latah County receive the Moscow-Pullman Daily
2 News. Bonnie Curran also represented that some households may receive both the Lewiston
3 Morning Tribune and the Moscow-Pullman Daily News.

- 4 4. On January 31, 2014, I spoke with Pat Vaughn, Latah County Assessor to inquire about the 23 COMES NOW the defendant, Charles A. Capone, by and through his appointed counsel, and 24 hereby moves the court for an order authorizing additional funds for investigation costs in the above-25 referenced matter. The court has previously approved investigative costs in this matter. Additional funds of $5,000 are hereby requested. Counsel has retained Chuck Schoonover, dba Action Agency, as investigator in the above-entitled case. Mr. Schoonover has expended the funds previously approved by meeting with Counsel on multiple occasions, meeting with the defendant, locating and interviewing potential trial witnesses, traveling to Lewiston, Idaho on multiple occasions to review and document

2 regarding this case. It is anticipated that Mr. Schoonover will continue to perform these functions. In 3 addition, Mr. Schoonover is organizing voluminous amounts of cell phone data that has taken the state a
4 significant amount of time to compile. The defense has been provided files containing hundreds of 5 thousands of lines of raw data. Mr. Schoonover is also assisting in extrapolating data from specific
6 reports provided by the state in discovery in anticipation of preparing specific trial exhibits. Mr.
7 Schoonover has also met with expert witnesses and counsel in Spokane and has been available and on call informed Mr. Monson that he will allow him to refile the motion after they interview Mr. Stone.

Mr. Monson stated that earlier today he filed a motion for additional funds for the investigator and moved the Court consider that motion at this time. Court stated that he has not had the opportunity to read that motion as he has been in court all day. Court informed counsel that he may have to reschedule the pre-trial motion hearing scheduled for February 28, 2014 since he is having surgery on February 25, 2014. Mr. Thompson was heard on the defendant's motion for additional funding for the investigator. Court stated that he will read the defendant's motion and take it under consideration.

COMES NOW the State of Idaho, by and through the Latah County Prosecuting Attorney, and respectfully submits the following brief response to the defendant's "Motion to Authorize Additional Funds for Computer Forensic Expert" filed herein on February 13, 2014.

At the outset, the State recognizes and very much appreciates the professionalism and candor evidenced by Mr. Barker by his inclusion of the State's concerns regarding costs to the public and requisite need for relevance and justification. (See 2nd paragraph, 1st sentence).

ORIGINAL

That being said, the defendant then articulates that the reason additional computer forensic expert services are necessary is in regard to reviewing cell phone data. In the first instance, the State respectfully refers the Court to virtually all of the prior defense requests for additional funding for Mr. Schoonover's services which refer to their need for his efforts in reviewing cell phone data. Secondly, the State would respectfully submit that a "computer forensic expert" (at a rate of approximately $200.00 per hour) is not an appropriate expenditure for the analysis of cell phone data, which, on the State's part, has and is being done by a police officer with some specialized training.

While the State very much appreciates the fact that the defendant's counsel are obligated to pursue whatever direction the defendant directs, we trust to the Court to insert the requisite degree of reason in determining what is and what is not appropriate and justified. Again, the State very much appreciates and respects the integrity and professionalism demonstrated by counsel for the defendant, and we respectfully submit the issue to Your Honor for decision.

Case No. CR-2013-1358

MOTION FOR ADDITIONAL FUNDS FOR INVESTIGATOR

COMES NOW the defendant, Charles A. Capone, by and through his appointed counsel, and hereby moves the court for an order authorizing additional funds for investigation costs in the above-referenced matter. The court has previously approved investigative costs in this matter. Additional funds of $3,000 are hereby requested. Counsel has retained Chuck Schoonover, dba Action Agency, as investigator in the above-entitled case. Mr. Schoonover has expended the funds previously approved by meeting with Counsel on multiple occasions, meeting with the defendant, locating and interviewing potential trial witnesses, traveling to Lewiston, Idaho on multiple occasions to review and document evidence in police custody and locate additional witnesses, and consulting with court-appointed counsel regarding this case. It is anticipated that Mr. Schoonover will continue to perform these functions. In addition, Mr. Schoonover has assisted in organizing voluminous amounts of cell phone data that has taken the state a significant amount of time to compile. Mr. Schoonover is also assisting in organizing witness testimony and extrapolating data from specific reports provided by the state in discovery in anticipation of preparing specific trial exhibits. Mr. Schoonover has also met with expert witnesses and counsel in Spokane and has been available and on call in order to locate specific items of evidence as requested by counsel. It is anticipated that Mr. Schoonover will continue to assist in locating witnesses, interviewing witnesses, and other activities as described above.

The Defendant notes that the State has objected to payment of additional investigative costs, and anticipates further objection. The Defendant respectfully notes that the state has formed a taskforce to investigate the disappearance of Rachel Anderson, which includes most, if not all, of the local law enforcement agencies in Latah County, Nez Perce County, and Asotin County Washington. The state has also involved the United States Coast Guard, the ATF, FBI, and law enforcement agencies from Florida. These agencies have been investigating the disappearance for approximately four years. The Defendant also respectfully notes that updated information continues to be discovered to the defense and expects additional discovery. The Defendant anticipates that the state will continue to involve the previously mentioned agencies up to the point of trial.

Mark T. Monson, being first duly sworn, upon oath states:

1. I am one of the attorneys appointed by the court to represent Charles A. Capone.
2. In representing Mr. Capone, it has been necessary to retain the services of an expert in the field of forensic Anthropology. The state has disclosed evidence that a cadaver dog has "hit" on the scent of human decomposition in at least two vehicles, one of which is alleged to have transported the victim post-mortem. It is necessary to consult with a forensic anthropologist regarding aspects of human decomposition and the type of evidence expected in the situation described by witnesses.
3. It is necessary for an expert to review all relevant discovery materials and conduct whatever tests may be deemed necessary in order to assist counsel in representing Mr. Capone. Failure to retain the assistance of such an expert would result in inadequate representation of Mr. Capone.
4. I have contacted Dr. Rick Snow, Ph.D, regarding obtaining assistance in this case. Attached is a copy of Dr. Snow's CV and rate schedule.

COMES NOW the State of Idaho, by and through the Latah County Prosecuting Attorney, and respectfully moves this Court pursuant to Idaho Criminal Rule 16(l) for a protective order exempting the presentence investigation report prepared in State of Idaho v. David Christopher Stone, Latah County Case No. CR-2013-01359, from disclosure in the instant case except as may be specifically authorized by the Court. In support, the State respectfully refers the Court to Idaho Criminal Rule 32(h) and Idaho Court Administrative Rule 32(g)(2), which make the contents of presentence investigation reports confidential and which specifically prohibits the release of "the report itself or any information contained therein, except as provided in Article I, Section 22(9) of the Idaho Constitution." I.C.R. 32(h)(1). The only exception potentially applicable in the instant case is under I.C.R. 32(h)(3) which provides that with "the permission of the sentencing judge (emphasis added), the presentence report may be available to persons or agencies having a legitimate professional interest in the information likely to be contained therein, if it appears that such availability will further the plan or rehabilitation of the defendant or further the interests of public protection, and that appropriate safeguards for the confidentiality of information contained in the presentence report will be provided by the persons or agencies receiving such information." Independent of whether those circumstances might arguably exist in this case, it is clear from the rule that the authority to grant such permission rests with the sentencing judge in the State v. Stone. The State represents that, concurrent with the filing of this motion, the State is also filing a motion in State v. Stone bringing this issue to the attention of the sentencing court, the Honorable Jeff M. Brudie, for such further determination, permission or authorization as he may deem appropriate to provide. A copy of that motion is appended hereto as Exhibit 1.

Respectfully submitted this 26 day of March, 2014.

COMES NOW the State, by and through the Latah County Prosecuting Attorney, and respectfully petitions the Court pursuant to the provisions of I.C.R. 32(h) for its guidance and authorization as to what information, if any, from the presentence investigation report herein, may be shared by the State during the discovery process in the companion case, State of Idaho v. Charles Anthony Capone, Latah County Case Number CR-2013-01358. In support of this motion, the State respectfully represents to the Court that the State has a continuing obligation for disclosure pursuant to Idaho Criminal Rule 16 and applicable case law (e.g. Brady/Giglio) in State v. Capone which is still pending trial. The State acknowledges that under the applicable court rules, the sentencing court in this case has sole authority to authorize the sharing of any information contained in the presentence investigation report.

The State proposes that the Court consider issuing an order authorizing the State to disclose to the defense in the Capone case only such information as may be discoverable but not duplicative of discovery already provided. In other words, if there is new information in the presentence investigation report herein that has not previously been disclosed, the State asks permission to disclose the same; and the State seeks the Court's permission to disclose any Brady/Giglio material that may be contained in the presentence investigation report that has likewise not otherwise been disclosed to the defense in the Capone case.

Because time is of the essence in the Capone case, which is set for argument on pre-trial motions on April 9 and for trial beginning June 23, the State respectfully requests an expedited decision from the Court on this motion and, further, waives hearing and argument so as to facilitate the same.

Respectfully submitted this 26 day of March, 2014.

Defendant's Motion is premature and that the motion should be denied until such time as this Court is in a position to make an informed decision in the matter regarding potential juror bias and prejudice based upon the responses from the venire to jury questionnaires issued by the Court or until after voir dire has been conducted in this case.

Points and Authorities -Applicable Legal Standard:

1. Idaho Criminal Rule 21 regarding Change of Venue provides:

Change of venue.

(a) For prejudice. The court upon motion of either party shall transfer the proceeding to another county if the court is satisfied that a fair and impartial trial cannot be had in the county where the case is pending.

2. A motion to change venue under ICR 21(a) is addressed to the sound discretion of the trial court. State v. Yager, 139 Idaho 680, 687, 85 P.3d 656, 663 (2004).

3. The validity of a court's decision to try a case in a particular venue is tested by whether, under the totality of existing circumstances, juror exposure to pretrial publicity would result in a trial that was not fundamentally fair. State v. Yager, 139 Idaho 680, 687, 85 P.3d 656, 663 (2004).

4. Publicity by itself does not require a change of venue, State v. Yager, 139 Idaho 680, 687, 85 P.3d 656, 663 (2004).

5. To succeed in seeking a change of venue a defendant must show there is a reasonable likelihood that prejudicial news coverage will prevent a fair trial in violation of the Sixth Amendment to the United States Constitution. State v. Hadden, 152 Idaho 371, 271 P.3d 1227 (2012).

6. In determining whether a criminal defendant will receive a fair trial, the Court should consider, among other factors, affidavits indicating prejudice or absence of prejudice in the community where the defendant is tried, the testimony of jurors at voir dire as to whether they have formed an opinion of the defendant's guilt or innocence based upon adverse publicity, the nature and content of pre-trial publicity and the amount of time elapsed from the time of the publicity to the trial. State v. Hadden, 152 Idaho 371, 271 P.3d 1227 (2012).

7. When reviewing the nature and content of the pretrial publicity, the Court should be concerned with the accuracy of the pretrial publicity, the extent to which the articles are inflammatory, inaccurate, or beyond the scope of admissible evidence, the number of articles, and whether the jurors were so incessantly exposed to such articles that they had subtly become conditioned to accept a particular version of the facts at trial. State v. Hadden, 152 Idaho 371, 271 P.3d 1227 (2012).

8. In determining the likelihood that the defendant will be able to receive a fair trial it is appropriate for the court to take into consideration the population of the potential jury pool in the county where the trial is to be held. State v. Hadden, 152 Idaho 371, 271 P.3d 1227 (2012).

Argument.

This case is pending in Latah County. Latah County has a population in excess of 38,000 residents, more than 80% of whom are older than eighteen years of age according to 2011 U.S. Census data. (See attached U.S. Census printout.) Jury pool master lists are created from county voter registration rolls, the lists of individuals holding driver's licenses and state identification cards, and other lists of individuals in the county. (Idaho Code 2-206 and 2-207). Latah County had more than 20,000 registered voters at the time of the primary election in May 2012, and has 25,733 names in the master jury list. (See attached February 18, 2014, e-mail from Susan Petersen, Latah County Clerk/Auditor/Recorder.)

Given the large population of potential jurors in the county, and despite the amount of publicity in this case, there is a high likelihood that a panel of twelve qualified and unbiased jurors can be seated who have not formed or expressed an opinion on the merits of this case or who have not been so incessantly exposed to such publicity that they have become conditioned to accept a particular version of the facts at trial. While the parties to the case and others closely involved may well be paying very close attention to the media coverage, it is highly unlikely that the average potential juror in the county has paid similar attention or has any significant interest in the proceedings.

The media coverage of this case that the undersigned has read, while occasionally unflattering to many involved including the defendant, is largely factual and noninflammatory. In the Hadden case, supra, the Idaho Court of Appeals upheld the trial court's denial of a motion to change venue following a rationale that applies here, stating:

...(I)n Yager, (supra) the extensive pretrial publicity concerned the charges in the case that Yager, for no apparent reason, shot a female state trooper at point-blank range, multiple times, killing her... Similarly in Needs, there was extensive pretrial publicity after officials discovered a partially burned torso, missing a head and arms, and charged Needs with the murder of her husband. Needs, 99 Idaho at 885, 591 P.2d at 132. One could argue such facts had the potential to be significantly more inflammatory than those in the present case, as they involved the brutal murder of a law enforcement officer and a suspect's husband, respectively, in horrific fashion. Yet, in both cases, our Supreme Court held, in conjunction with other factors, the district courts did not err in denying motions for change of venue, concluding the news reports were largely factual and noninflammatory. Accord Hall, 111 Idaho at 830-31, 727 P.2d at 1258-59 (noting there had been extensive pretrial publicity of the circumstances surrounding the defendant's charges of first degree murder and aggravated battery, but concluding the publicity was largely "factual and noninflammatory"). Thus, the mere fact the crime(s) reported by the media are gruesome, memorable, etc., does not render the publicity inflammatory to the extent of requiring a change of venue.

In the State's view, the only way that this court can even begin to make an informed decision in this matter will be to review the responses to the juror questionnaire to be issued to the jury panel. The questionnaire will provide a factual basis to assist the court in determining the likelihood that the defendant can receive a fair trial in Latah County.

Based on the above, the State respectfully prays that the Court deny the defendant's motion to change venue subject to renewal of the motion after potential jurors respond to the jury questionnaire or after voir dire is complete.

COMES NOW, the State of Idaho, by and through Deputy Prosecutor Mia Vowels, and respectfully submits the following response to the Defendant's February 7, 2014, "Motion to Suppress" for the Court's consideration.

ISSUES PRESENTED

- I. Are Rachael Anderson's statements to third parties testimonial and therefore barred under Crawford?

ORIGINAL 001417

- II. Are Rachael Anderson's statements to law enforcement testimonial and therefore barred under Crawford?

STATEMENT OF FACTS

Rachael Anderson and Charles Capone married on September 5, 2009 at the Hitching Post in Coeur d'Alene. On December 27, 2009 Charles Capone attempted to strangle Ms. Anderson in Clarkston, Washington. Ms. Anderson left Mr. Capone after this incident and ultimately reported the incident to police on January 2, 2010. Ms. Anderson filed for divorce on January 6, 2010 and Mr. Capone was served with the divorce paperwork on January 11, 2010. Beginning on January 20, 2010 through April of 2010, when Ms. Anderson was reported missing, she started having mysterious damage done to her car along with receiving spoof calls where the caller had a disguised voice and lead her to believe she was being watched. Ms. Anderson was not aware of who was stalking her. After Ms. Anderson's disappearance Mr. Capone admitted to stalking and harassing Ms. Anderson and admitted to trying to convince her someone else was stalking her.

At trial, the State intends to offer evidence of statements made by the victim, Rachael Anderson, prior to her April 16, 2010 disappearance that may include statements regarding her relationship with the Defendant, Charles Capone; their pending divorce proceedings; her intentions and plans regarding her marriage to Mr. Capone; her plans regarding other actions she was intending to take (such as traveling to Moscow to meet with Mr. Capone); her actions, plans and statements regarding her being stalked; and other similar statements.

Rachael Anderson has been missing since April 16, 2010, and the State asserts that she is deceased; she will obviously not be “available” to testify at the trial. At trial, the State anticipates David Stone will testify that he witnessed Charles Capone strangle Rachael Anderson and that he helped Mr. Capone dispose of Ms. Anderson’s body. As such, she will not be available for confrontation or cross-examination by the defense.

ANALYSIS

Under the Sixth Amendment, a defendant in a criminal matter is given the right to be confronted by the witnesses against him. Construing the meaning of “confrontation”, the United States Supreme Court in Crawford v. Washington held that this right mandates that the prosecution be unable to introduce the testimonial statements of an unavailable witness unless the defendant had a prior opportunity to cross-examine the witness. 541 U.S. 36, 41 (2004). In comparing the differences between testimonial and non-testimonial, the United States Supreme Court noted three areas of core testimonial statements:

- (1) Ex parte in-court testimony or its functional equivalent—that is, material such as affidavits, custodial examinations, prior testimony that the defendant was unable to cross-examine, or similar pretrial statements that declarants would reasonably expect to be used prosecutorially;
- (2) Extrajudicial statements ... contained in formalized testimonial materials, such as affidavits, depositions, prior testimony, or confessions; and
- (3) Statements that were made under circumstances which would lead an objective witness reasonably to believe that the statement would be available for use at a later trial. Id. At 51-52.

Two years later, in Davis v. Washington, 547 U.S. 813 (2006), the Supreme Court specifically carved out an ongoing emergency exception for statements made to law enforcement.

Five years later, the Court observed that there may be other circumstances where a statement is not testimonial.

“When, as in Davis, the primary purpose of an interrogation is to respond to an “ongoing emergency,” its purpose is not to create a record for trial and thus it is not within the scope of the Clause. But there may be other circumstances, aside from ongoing emergencies, when a statement is not procured with a primary purpose of creating an out-of-court substitute for trial testimony. In making the primary purpose determination, standard rules of hearsay, designed to identify some statements as reliable, will be relevant. Where no such primary purpose exists, the admissibility of a statement is the concern of state and federal rules of evidence, not the Confrontation Clause.” Michigan v. Bryant, 131 S.Ct. 1143, 1155 (2011).

Based on the above, the State respectfully submits that its contemplated evidence of statements by Rachael Anderson to third parties and to law enforcement is not testimonial unless they can objectively be seen as having a primary purpose to create an out-of-court substitute for testimony.

A. Statements Made to Third Parties

The statements Rachael Anderson made to third parties (family, friends and acquaintances), and those that she made to herself that were overheard by these third parties, are non-testimonial. Although the Supreme Court has not explicitly ruled on whether statements made to third parties could be testimonial, all of its determinations have been limited to interactions with law enforcement or their agents. In Giles, albeit in dicta, the Supreme Court specifically observed that “[s]tatements to friends and neighbors about abuse and intimidation, and statements to physicians in the course of receiving treatment would be excluded, if at all, only by hearsay rules,” as they are not testimonial within the meaning of the Confrontation

Clause. 354 U.S. at 376-77. Additionally, Idaho courts have consistently defined testimonial solely in reference to law enforcement or their agents. See Davis, 152 Idaho at 657, 273 P.3d at 698. For instance, in State v. Sanchez, the Idaho Court of Appeals defined testimonial statements in stating:

A statement is testimonial when circumstances objectively indicate that the primary purpose of an interrogation is to establish or prove past events potentially relevant to later criminal prosecution, unless the primary purpose of the interrogation is to enable police to assist in an ongoing emergency.

State v. Sanchez, 147 Idaho 521, 524, 211 P.3d 130, 133 (Ct. App. 2009); Citing, Davis, 547

U.S. at 822. Considering whether statements made by a mother to her daughter over a jail phone call were testimonial, the court held:

We need not address the question of whether conversations between private persons can, under certain circumstances, be deemed testimonial. As noted, the statements made here were of a child to her mother on the telephone while her mother was in jail. There was no interrogation. The statements were not made in response to questioning akin to that which might be expected in the courtroom . . . The conversations lacked any degree of formality. The only reason the conversations were recorded was because of jail policy. To the extent any statement from A.A. can be said to have been elicited, it was in the nature of "what's wrong?" not "what happened?" This situation did not involve police, their functional equivalent, or formalities associated with in-court or extra-judicial statements contemplated as testimonial in Crawford. In fact, there is no valid basis to conclude that any law enforcement personnel, or their functional equivalent, were involved at all relative to these statements. In this case, the primary purpose of the conversations was not to establish or prove past events potentially relevant to later criminal prosecution. The statements made by A.A. were spontaneous, in which she principally described her feelings and the present state of her health. These statements are more closely related to Davis than Crawford. While A.A. may not have been seeking immediate medical treatment, her statements are more of a plea for help and intervention, not accusation. Furthermore, the statements were not made under circumstances which would lead an objective witness reasonably to believe that they would be available for use at a later trial. Therefore, the statements at issue here are non-testimonial and the protections of the Confrontation Clause are not implicated

Sanchez, 147 Idaho at 133-34, 211 P.3d at 133-34.

Therefore, because Rachael Anderson's statements to friends, family members, and acquaintances, about her fears, perception of events, and beliefs that Mr. Capone was stalking her were not made or elicited for the purposes of later prosecution, the statements are non-testimonial.

B. Statements Made to Law Enforcement

In determining whether a statement made to law enforcement was testimonial, courts apply an objective standard to determine if the statements were made or elicited for the purpose of investigating or gathering information relevant to later prosecution (even though there may not actually be a later prosecution). Bryant, 131 S.Ct. at 1153. Conversely, information gathered or elicited by law enforcement is not considered testimonial if, objectively, it was done for the purpose of gathering information to respond to an ongoing emergency. Id. Although most of the case law addresses statements that law enforcement elicited through the questioning of a witness, the Supreme Court has noted that "we are aware of no[cases], holding that a person who volunteers his testimony is any less a witness against the defendant, than one who is responding to interrogation." Melendez-Diaz v. Massachusetts, 557 U.S. 305, 317 (2009). To determine whether there is an ongoing emergency, the courts have looked to such factors as the length of time since, and the geographic proximity to the incident, whether a reasonable listener would perceive the witness was facing an ongoing emergency, whether the nature of what was asked and answered, viewed objectively, was such that the elicited statements were necessary to resolve the present emergency, and the level of formality in the interview. Davis, 547 U.S. at 827-28.

First, it must be considered whether the statements Rachael Anderson made to law enforcement would be considered testimonial. Due to Defendant's stalking and harassing behavior towards Rachael, she was in a constant state of an "ongoing emergency" as she did not know the identity of who was stalking her. She lived in a state of constant fear and heightened awareness of her surroundings. Therefore, any statements Ms. Anderson made while under this state of being in an "ongoing emergency" as she was trying to figure out who her stalker was along with the fear she had for her safety would be considered non-testimonial.

APPLICATION OF THE NON-HEARSAY/HEARSAY RULES

Even though Rachael Anderson's statements are non-testimonial, statements by Ms. Anderson to third parties would only be admissible if they are either non-hearsay (under I.R.E. 801) or fit within an exception to the hearsay rule under I.R.E. 803 or 804.

To the extent that a statement from Rachael Anderson may be offered not for the truth of the statement but merely to provide context and foundation for the actions of others, it would be non-hearsay under I.R.E. 801(c).

To the extent that statements by Rachael Anderson to third parties fall within the definition of hearsay, the State believes that the evidence it will be adducing at the jury trial will fall into at least one of a number of possible exceptions to the hearsay rule;

1. I.R.E. 803(1) - Present Sense Impression - allows hearsay statements which were made by the person while perceiving the event or immediately thereafter.
2. I.R.E. 803(2) - Excited Utterance - allows hearsay statements which relate to a startling event or condition while the declarant is under the stress or excitement of the particular event.
3. I.R.E. 803(3) - Then-Existing Mental/Emotional/Physical Condition - allows the admission of hearsay statements which relate to the declarant's state of mind, plan, mental feelings, etc.

In addition to the exceptions under I.R.E. 803, I.R.E. 804 applies in this case because of Rachael Anderson's "unavailability" as a witness;

1. I.R.E. 804(b)(4) - Personal/Family History - allows hearsay statements that relate to an unavailable declarant's personal or family history including marriage, divorce, relationship by marriage, etc.
2. I.R.E. 804(b)(5) - Forfeiture by Wrongdoing - allows the admission of hearsay statements from an unavailable witness "offered against a party that has engaged or acquiesced in wrongdoing that was intended to, and did, procure the unavailability of the declarant as a witness." In this particular case, the State respectfully submits that the evidence will show that the Defendant is responsible for the death and resulting “unavailability” of Rachael Anderson (note: the Supreme Court in Davis, supra, discusses the forfeiture by wrong-doing rule in further detail, and it expressly accepted this doctrine in Crawford, supra at 62).

3. I.R.E. 804(b)(6) - allows the admission of hearsay statements by an unavailable declarant where the Court determines that:
 - a. The statement is offered as evidence of a material fact;
 - b. The statement is more probative on the point for which it is offered than any other evidence which the proponent can procure through reasonable efforts; and
 - c. The general purposes of these rules and interests of justice will best be served by admission of the statement into evidence.

Based on the above, the State respectfully prays that the Court deny the defendant's motion to suppress evidence of statements made by Rachael Anderson.
